QUIET ELECTION IN TOWN OF WINDHAM Smaller Vote Polled Monday Than in Recent Years.

Election day was an unusually quiet one for Windham and the vote polled was considerably lighter than in recent years. One reason for this is said to be the fact that there was no contest on the license question, which was not voted upon, and another reason assigned for the light vote is the new ballot, which is said to have kept quite a number away from the polls. In any event the vote last year was 1553 and that cast this year was about 1385. The Republicans appeared to be the ones who were staying at home. Some who keep a close count say that the Republicans did not begin to get out their vote while the Democrats did. The atmosphere was mild and everything was favorable to a heavy vote, but a stranger within the city would hardly realize that an election was being held, as everything was so quiet and peaceable. The Republicans had their headquarters in Elmer Young's place on Church street, and the Democrats held forth in Fred Green's on the same street, but a trifle closer to the polls.

Retiring Principal Tendered Reception.

George W. Dickson, who concluded his duties as principal of the Windham street school Friday, was tendered a reception in the assembly hall of the normal school Saturday evening from 8 to 10 o'clock by the faculty of both the normal and model schools. There was an attendance of about 30. Music for the occasion was furnished by Miss Annie Backus, who presided at the piano. During the evening a light luncheon and liquid refreshments were served. Mr. Dickson left Monday for Newport, N. H., to assume his new duties as superintendent of schools in that place.

Local Notes of Passing Interest.
The town assessors held their first meeting Monday in the rooms of the board of selectmen in the town building. Quite a number of property owners appeared and filed their lists. The Trusting circle of The King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. C. H. Dismick on Mountain street this (Tuesday) afternoon.
Rufus Root and E. Morrisette attended the state convention of the Central Labor union at Hartford on Monday. They went as delegates from local No. 825, Carpenters and Joiners of America.

DEMOCRATIC BOARD OF SELECTMEN NAMED Sixty-one Ballots Rejected Out of Total of 1,380.

It was 11 o'clock before Moderator George W. Melony finished declaring the vote for the town of Windham Monday evening, although the count had concluded their task at about 10:30 o'clock. At the meeting in the morning, before any vote was cast, it was voted to increase the salary of the first selectman from $500 to $500 per year, and that of the other two from $100 to $150 per year.

S. Arnold Peckham turned to the voters and said: "I thank you, gentlemen, for the first selectman for the past two years."
The result of the vote for selectmen was a great surprise to many of the voters, the electors naming a democratic board for the first time in many years, and they elected Alderman James J. Tew first selectman, George H. Backus second, and Charles Larabee third, or minority member. Mr. Peckham received but 622 votes, which was the lowest for any of the four candidates from the two leading parties. The prohibition vote was a trifle heavier than usual, voting for their candidates ranging from 84 to 49.

The vote was declared as follows: Total number of stubs found in box 1382; total number of ballots found in box 1289; number of ballots rejected for not being correctly marked 58; number of ballots rejected for being mutilated 13. The successful candidates were: Assessor for three years, Charles W. Tew, of 662; board of selectmen, Charles F. Risedorf, of 665; Alphonse Chagnon, of 667; Asher B. Holmes, of 621; selectmen, James J. Tew, of 662; George H. Backus, of 645; Charles Larabee, Jr., of 642; town deposit and school fund, Charles A. Capen, of 685; auditors, George M. Grays, of 673; John H. Morrison, of 612; collector of taxes, Jerome E. Baldwin, of 713; constable, William J. Hastings, of 674; Wilbur G. Stevens, of 689; Harry W. Aver, of 689; Irving M. Ford, of 684; Lyman H. Maine, Jr., of 625; William A. Jones, of 602; Timothy E. Day, of 609; registrars, John C. Barston, of 669; James Haggerty, of 612; town school committee for three years, George E. Elliott, of 709; Louis B. Johnson, of 705; Thomas J. Kelley, of 620; town school committee for one year, Gustave O. Cartier, of 725; tree warden, William J. Hastings, of 643; defeated Mitchell Laramie by 5 votes only.

TEEMS WITH GRAFT. So Southington Young Man Declares of Utica Asylum.

John Gillick, the Southington young man who left that place last spring with a roll of big bills for Oklahoma and was next heard from as an inmate of the state asylum for the insane at Utica, is again at Southington and he tells a story that would indicate that there is need of looking into the Utica institution, which, he alleges, "teems with graft."

Gillick's departure from Southington was a surprise to one, this condition about is to conserve our young people for the farm and for rural life, and prevent them rushing to the cities in such large numbers. Our census statistics show that in recent years there has been an abnormal increase in the city population at the expense of the rural communities. This is indeed unfortunate.

FEDERAL PENSIONS Strongly Endorsed at Meeting Held in New Haven.

There was a large attendance at the meeting called Saturday night in New Haven chamber of commerce under the auspices of the New Haven branch of the United States Civil Service Retirement association, in the interest of the movement for the retirement and pensioning of aged and disabled government employees. The Journal-Courier. The seating capacity of the little hall was all occupied and many were obliged to stand in the rear and along the sides. The assemblage was made up almost exclusively of men in the government service, mostly in the postoffice and railway mail service, and included a considerable number from out of town, Meriden, Waterbury, Bridgeport, Hartford, Derby and Wallingford being well represented. Among the well known members of the association present were Secretary C. L. Pierce, President Hard of the Bridgeport Carriers' association, Chief Mailing Clerk Woodworth of the Waterbury postoffice, Assistant Postmaster Stewart of Derby, and L. M. Tarr, weather forecaster.

President Pierce M. Maher of the association presided and the meeting was active from start to finish. He read a number of letters from citizens each one endorsing a pension plan for the federal employees. These letters were from President Arthur T. Hadley, Secretary Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr. of Yale university; Edward G. Buckland, vice president of the New Haven road; the chamber of commerce; Col. A. N. Shepard of Portland; Mayor Thomas L. Reilly of Meriden; Col. Isaac M. Gilman, Congressman N. D. Sperry; Collector of the Port J. Rice Winchell; Everett G. Hill; Col. Charles W. Pickett; Edwin Oviatt and Charles W. Tuttle.
President Maher then presented Congressman John Q. Tilson, who said that he had given much study to the problem of retirement of civil service employees and promised to lend his energies toward the enactment of a pension law for the federal employees. Major Tilson described the methods in use in Great Britain.
Prof. E. B. Reed of Yale endorsed the movement in warm words. In part he said: "With the kindest feelings for men grown old in the service, one must admit that after a certain age it is not good economy to employ them. I can speak best of my own profession; as a boy I attended courses taught by teachers who were too old to properly instruct. Nothing could have been more wasteful. On the other hand, who will turn off like an old horse, the superannuated teacher? It is the same problem in the government service. The Goulden bill solves this problem. For a slight expense it provides a more efficient service and enables the superannuated public servant to retire with dignity. Mayor Rice also favored the measure.

CONNECTICUT'S FARMS. Properly Cultivated, the Land Would Support Double the Present Population.

Governor Weeks at Guilford fair said:
Now, while it is true that Connecticut raises more corn to the acre than any other state in the union, and no other state raises so many dollars' worth of rice, and while she raises more potatoes for her size than any other state in the union, and while the income per acre of Connecticut farms is only exceeded by Massachusetts and Rhode Island throughout the United States, still this showing is not as good as it could and ought to be, and what it must be.

There was a time when the farmer was producing more corn, wheat, wool and potatoes than the demand of the country called for, but today it is different. The population has grown more rapidly than has the farmer's ability to produce. So we are face to face with the problem of greater results from the soil, in fact from everything that emanates from the farm. When we travel over our own beloved state, he is pained to see so much soil allowed to run to waste. If this wasted soil along with our cultivated soil could be properly treated and cared for, we could provide for a population of at least twice our present size.

Now in New England one of the main things to bring this condition about is to conserve our young people for the farm and for rural life, and prevent them rushing to the cities in such large numbers. Our census statistics show that in recent years there has been an abnormal increase in the city population at the expense of the rural communities. This is indeed unfortunate.

I read the other day that never in the history of the world has so much progress been made in agricultural education as in the United States during the past ten years. Our agricultural colleges are in a great measure responsible for this. In 1897 the total income from land-grant colleges aggregated only $5,000,000. Today it is $18,000,000, and the number of students has increased in that time from 4,000 to 14,000.
One of the best of these agricultural colleges is our own Storrs college, located at Storrs, in Windham county. Now, is it not about time for our agricultural people to make rural life—which is, without question, the most independent and wholesome on the face of the earth—so attractive through education of all kinds, that the young people will choose it rather than the stifling, overcrowded cities? Give the children on the farm shorter hours; supply them with plenty of good reading matter, give them a thoroughly agricultural education so they will know how to reap the full benefits from the soil, and I am sure it would not be long before the words, "farm drudge," and "abandoned farm," would be obsolete. Why, do you know that the average yield of potatoes in Connecticut is only about 50 bushels, while in Belgium and Germany it is over 250 bushels to the acre? I am informed on good authority that if soil treatment is understood, we can do as well in Connecticut as in Germany or Belgium.

NURSE COMING. She Will Work Among Waterbury School Children—Shower Baths Are Wanted for Cleanliness.

Within a week or two the nurse who is to aid Medical Inspector E. W. Goodenough will arrive and begin work in the schools. What her work will consist of was not definitely determined in every particular yet, but she will aid the medical examiner in his school work. She will instruct the children how to take care of themselves and even visit their homes if necessary to help out the parents. She will work principally in the congested districts, where the foreign-born are numerous and where proper care is sometimes not given to cleanliness. The condition of certain pupils in some of the schools is expected to be frightful, as many of the foreign children are infested with vermin. It is stated that many of the teachers have even washed the children themselves. Numbers of them have been sent home with instructions to clean up.

There is a movement under foot to have shower baths installed in all the schools in the congested districts.—Waterbury Republican.

The Bell Boy Improperly Dressed.

General Funston's refusal to remain a guest at a Kansas City hotel where the bell boy wore the uniform of a captain of the United States army, is perfectly comprehensible. Naval officers are said to have been compelled by tactful pressure a Washington hotel to remove the uniform of a rear admiral from its porter and substitute for it a dress that was not a palpable assertion that the wearer held the commission of the United States. It is a somewhat singular demonstration of the love of the average man for building garments that so many men, persons in humble occupations, are content habitually to wear during their employment working clothes so militarily fashioned, trimmed and adorned that the closest scrutiny is required to expose the sham. The United States is not alone in this bad practice, for very recently the porter of a London hotel not only duplicated the uniform of a British naval captain, but assumed the aiguillette which in Great Britain is supposed to be the monopoly of royalty in either service.—Boston Transcript.

You Will Make No Mistake If You Follow This Norwich Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys. If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are all symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is known to cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in Norwich. Follow the advice of a Norwich citizen and be cured yourself.
Mrs. Charles H. Whaley, 3 Treadway Avenue, Norwich, Conn., says: "Ever since my first experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, some six years ago, I have valued them highly. Their use has saved me a great deal of suffering. My experience with various remedies has taught me that many of them while doing good in one way will cause distress in another. Such is not true of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured from N. D. Sevin & Son's drug store. They act solely upon the kidneys, and do not affect the stomach, heart or other organs in any way. I consider it a pleasure to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers."
